WIDESPREAD STORMS CAUSE HEAVY DAMAGE

FLOOD THREAT IN OKECHOBEE, FLORIDA, AREA

TERRITORY IN WHICH MANY LIVES WERE LOST IN 1926
FROM HIGH WATERS

STORM REPORTS FROM CUBA, GEORGIA, ARIZONA AND MINNESOTA

Tallahassee, Fla., Aug. 15.—(UP)—The worst of Florida's hurricane damage appeared to have passed today, but there was a flood threat in the Okechobee lake district, a territory in which many lives were lost in 1926 from high waters.

High winds that swept the Tallahassee district late Tuesday had abated, leaving considerable wreckage.

The situation around Lake Okechobee today caused considerable concern. The Kissimmee river was running high, pouring a great flood into the St. Lucie outlet canal, and it was feared the canal would be unable to carry off the overflow.

The lake was rising rapidly and last night was reported as a fraction less than 17 feet, near flood stage.

Whipping along at a velocity of 45 miles an hour the winds destroyed much property throughout the district. Communications for thirty miles around were down.

Roads and railroad tracks were reported cluttered with fallen trees and trains into Tallahassee were running considerably late, due to the debris left by the storm.

More than 10 houses were blown down at Panama Springs. Several houses were damaged at Sopchoppy, and some houses were damaged in Tallahassee.

The high winds apparently were part of the hurricane that blew up in the Gulf of Mexico, whipped along a part of the western coast of the state and then struck inland. The full force of the storm was felt in this district, although storm warnings had been posted from Tampa to Mobile, Ala.

The Oconee, Ocmulgee, Flint and Alabama rivers were at dangerous stages. Bridges were unsafe. Highways and railroads were washed out. Crop damage was expected to equal that of last week when cotton, corn and tobacco suffered heavy losses.

CUBA ESCAPES HURRICANE DANGER

Havana, Cuba, Aug. 15.—Most of Cuba probably will escape a hurricane that is sweeping over the central Caribbean sea, according to a warning of the national observatory.

The report said the worst of the tropical disturbance was centering south of the Dominican Republic and that in its sweep it probably would strike the southern part of Jamaica.

GEORGIA FACES FLOOD DAMAGE

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 15.—Georgia faced serious flood damage through a wide area today as a tropical storm from off the West Florida coast, moved northward across the state.

Heavy rains that fell in south and central Georgia yesterday were sweeping Atlanta and the watersheds to the north today.

The Withlacoochee river and the Alapaha river, near Valdosta, Ga., were spreading flood waters over wide lowland areas about the city.

Motorists were reported marooned at Macon as highways to the north and east were damaged.

Rivers in the south and central parts of the state—sent to flood stages by last week's storm—had begun to return to normal, when the new disturbance sent tributaries disgorging torrents.

Damage to property and crops was reported from south Georgia where a high wind accompanied the heavy rain yesterday.

WORST STORM IN YEARS IN ARIZONA

Nogales, Ariz., Aug. 15.—Sections of Arizona were recovering today from the effects of one of the worst storms in its history.

Flood waters here did damage estimated at $50,000 when they swept out of the mountains and overflowed rivers and creeks.

Many persons narrowly escaped from the flood, which came without warning. Thirty business houses and 20 homes were partially under water here.

Heavy rains were responsible for the flood.

COOPER AND BEGG RUN NECK AND NECK

BOTH ARE OHIO DRY ADVOCATES
SEEKING REPUBLICAN GUB-ERNATORIAL NOMINATION

IN DEMOCRATIC RACE DAVEY
DRY, IS OUTDISTANCING
SMITH SUPPORTER

Columbus, O., Aug. 15.—(UP)—Meyers Y. Cooper of Cincinnati and Congressman James T. Begg of Sandusky, both dry advocates, were running a neck-and-neck race for the republican gubernatorial nomination in primary election returns today.

In the democratic race, Congressman Martin L. Davey, also endorsed by the Anti-Saloon League, was running three to one ahead of his nearest opponent, Earl D. Bloom, and had completely outdistanced Peter Witt, ardent Smith supporter and wet advocate.

In the republican short-term senatorial race, Congressman E. Burton was running 70,000 ahead of his nearest opponent, Chief Justice Carrington T. Marshall of the state supreme court.

U. S. Senator Simeon D. Fess was unopposed for the republican long term nomination.

In the short-term democratic contest, Graham P. Hunt of Cincinnati, modificationist advocate, was running slightly ahead of United States Senator Cyrus Locher, announced dry.

Hunt was the only avowed wet in the field who was polling a substantial vote.

State Director of Agriculture Chas. V. Truax was leading former Congressman George White by 11,000 votes for the democratic long-term nomination.

Political observers generally interpreted the vote as a stamp of disapproval of attempts to modify the dry laws.

Columbus, O., Aug. 15.—The neck and neck race of Congressman Jas. T. Begg, of Sandusky, and Myers Y. Cooper of Cincinnati, for the republican gubernatorial nomination was virtually ended today when the returns from 7,569 precincts in yesterday's primary election gave Begg a lead of 14,000. The vote now stands: Begg, 221,481; Cooper, 207,527.

Minnesota early today dispelled the torrid wave of the past four days.

Weather forecasts predicted a further drop in temperature through central Minnesota today. The cooler weather will not reach southern Minnesota until Thursday, according to predictions.

But one prostration was reported in the Twin Cities Tuesday as the temperature reached 90 degrees. John Filsen, Minneapolis, suffered serious injuries in falling from a ladder when overcome by the heat. Showers are predicted today for southern and eastern Minnesota.

St. Paul, Aug. 15.—Considerable damage was done in various sections of Minnesota today by the third heavy wind and rain storm in two weeks.

Windows were broken, trees and wires were blown down and other property damage was reported in the Twin Cities. Approximately 500 telephones in St. Paul were put out of order by the wind and several power lines were affected.

At Brainerd the heaviest rainfall in several years also disrupted communication lines and several basements were flooded. More than two and one-half inches of rain fell in the Brainerd section during the storm.

144 Pints of Beer Found Piled Up Against Town Hall of Hugo; Fire Chief Under Arrest

SEEK TO FIND OWNERS OF THE MALT BEVERAGE

PROHIBITION MEN ALSO SAID TO HAVE FOUND LIQUOR NEAR TOWN JAIL

ALSO IN BUS DEPOT, GENERAL STORE, INN OF THE

Hugo, Minn., Aug. 15.—(UP)—Adolphus A. Trudeau, fire chief of Hugo, was under arrest here today and an investigation was under way to determine ownership of 144 pints of beer found piled up against the town hall.

Trudeau, three other men, and a woman, were arrested following a raid by federal prohibition men which resulted in the discovery of "plenty of booze and prominent citizens."

Prohibition men under S. B. Vuale, northwest administrator, were said to have found liquor in a shed behind the town jail, in the bus depot, in a general store, in the Log Cabin Inn, besides the beer stacked up against the town jail.

George Vadnaia, president of the city council, declared today that a special meeting of the body had been called for Monday night "to find out who hid that liquor on the town hall premises."

"The whole police force, as well as fire department officials," Vadnaia said, "will be called on the carpet at the meeting."

"Bud Kellogg, night town marshal, swore he had 'never heard tell' of the liquor. Somebody must have 'heard tell' of it and we are going to find out who it was."

Chief Trudeau was arrested in a bar operated in conjunction with the bus depot after the agents claimed to have found the beer beside the town hall and 30 gallons of aged liquor in a shed near the jail.

Others arrested in the raid were: Max Tasler, recently freed of fraud charges in connection with the C. A. Cochran $2,000,000 mail case in St. Paul; his wife, Augusta Tasler, Arthur Bube and Zevich Cox.

The Taslers were arrested in a road house they operate while Bube and Cox were taken at the Log Cabin Inn. All were charged with sale and possession of liquor and with maintaining nuisances under the liquor laws.

William Carpenter, in whose general store the agents said they found a quantity of liquor, was also charged in a warrant with proprietorship of the inn. He, too, was charged with liquor law violations.

The federal agents were said to have found a cache of liquor at the inn when they fell into a four foot well and discovered four kegs of beer cooling at the bottom. Several of the agents sustained glass cuts on their hands and faces.

Twelve patrons of the establishment were questioned by agents and released with the understanding that they were to appear again later.

In all, 220 gallons of liquor and 50 cases of beer were reported found by the agents.

STRATON-SMITH DEBATE TAKES A TAIL SPIN

PASTOR DETERMINED TO RAISE ISSUE AGAIN ON WINGS OF PUBLICITY

MAY GO TO EXTENT OF HIRING A HALL TO GET A BIGGER
AUDIENCE

New York, Aug. 15.—(UP)—The widely advertised "debate" between the Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton, the fighting fundamentalist, and Gov. Alfred E. Smith, the democratic candidate for president, appeared to have gone into a tailspin and cracked up.

The preacher is determined, however, to raise the issue again on the wings of publicity and keep it flying, even to the extent of hiring a big hall and repeating before a bigger audience his charge that Governor Smith is America's "deadliest foe" of moral progress and political wisdom.

When Smith declined to answer the attack anywhere except in Calvary Baptist church, from whose pulpit the preacher attacked him, Straton said that Smith was "running away from a fight."

"Unless and until I hear from you in the affirmative the matter is closed," the governor's letter said. Straton declared he would hire the largest hall available and repeat the sermon to which Smith objected, "whether the governor attends or not."

INTERLOCKING SHORTAGE OF $5,500,000

ROY C. TOOMBS, PRESIDENT OF
EACH OF 3 INSTITUTIONS,
HELD RESPONSIBLE

2 RECEIVERS HAVE BEEN AP-POINTED FOR INTERNATIONAL
LIFE INSURANCE CO.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 15.—(UP)—An insurance company here, a brokerage house at Chicago, and a bank at Downers Grove, Ill., were involved today in an indicated interlocking shortage of $5,500,000.

Roy C. Toombs, president of each one of the three institutions, is held accountable for the shortage.

The insurance company is the International Life; the brokerage house is Toombs and Daily, and the bank is the Downers Grove Bank.

Two receivers have been appointed for the insurance company, which faces an indicated shortage of $3,500,000, one receiver has been appointed for the brokerage house with an alleged shortage of $2,000,000; while Attorney General Shartel has demanded payment of $100,000 from the Downers Grove Bank.

Toombs is alleged to have ordered issuance of a certificate for 10,000 shares of stock which did not exist, and then to have borrowed upon that certificate approximately $500,000.

During more than a week of intensive investigation, Toombs has remained in Chicago, asserting that the missing insurance company assets are "tied up," that they can be produced "within 30 days."

The interlocking nature of the indicated shortage, according to testimony of T. J. Reynolds, vice president of the insurance company, came about when Toombs induced International to purchase for cash $3,500,000 worth of bonds from his own brokerage company.

Toombs further suggested that International sell the bonds, plus a quantity of real estate mortgages, for a total of $7,800,000. It was agreed, he said, and Toombs went to Chicago to wind up the transaction.

Instead of sending cash for the bonds, Reynolds said, Toombs sent time certificates of deposit on the Downers Grove Bank, which is capitalized at $100,000.

The International directors refused the certificates, and demanded return of the bonds, which thus far Toombs has failed to do, Reynolds said.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—Roy C. Toombs, president of the International Life Insurance Co., was released by Municipal Judge George M. Curran here today when a fugitive warrant expected from St. Louis failed to arrive.

Washington, Aug. 15.—(UP)—The National Aeronautic association of the United States has been declared permanent owner of the Gordon Bennett trophy for winning three successive international balloon races, it was announced at association headquarters here today.

AUDIENCE

New York, Aug. 15.—(UP)—The widely advertised "debate" between the Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton, the fighting fundamentalist, and Gov. Alfred E. Smith, the democratic candidate for president, appeared to have gone into a tailspin and cracked up.

The preacher is determined, however, to raise the issue again on the wings of publicity and keep it flying, even to the extent of hiring a big hall and repeating before a bigger audience his charge that Governor Smith is America's "deadliest foe" of moral progress and political wisdom.

When Smith declined to answer the attack anywhere except in Calvary Baptist church, from whose pulpit the preacher attacked him, Straton said that Smith was "running away from a fight."

"Unless and until I hear from you in the affirmative the matter is closed," the governor's letter said.

Straton declared he would hire the largest hall available and repeat the sermon to which Smith objected, "whether the governor attends or not."

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 15.—With his speech of acceptance completed, Gov. Alfred E. Smith, democratic presidential candidate, today prepared to relax as much as possible until his official notification a week from tonight.

The candidate is now awaiting a "yes or no" answer from Dr. John Roach Straton, pastor of Calvary Baptist church in New York, as to whether the minister will grant the governor's request that he be permitted to answer in the church the assertion of Straton that Smith is the "greatest menace to moral forces" in public life.

BREAKING UP RING OF MORPHINE DISTRIBUTORS TODAY

Minneapolis, Aug. 15.—(U.P.)—Federal narcotic agents working out of the Minneapolis office were believed today to have broken up a so-called ring of morphine distributors by seven arrests in Fargo and Sioux City. John Carney, Alice Carney and Mrs. Bert Davis, were arrested at Fargo. Narcotics were said to have been found on their persons. At Sioux City $4,000 worth of drugs were seized and four persons, including Dr. August Anderson, were arrested.

EACH OF 3 INSTITUTIONS,
HELD RESPONSIBLE

2 RECEIVERS HAVE BEEN AP-POINTED FOR INTERNATIONAL
LIFE INSURANCE CO.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 15.—(UP)—An insurance company here, a brokerage house at Chicago, and a bank at Downers Grove, Ill., were involved today in an indicated interlocking shortage of $5,500,000.

Roy C. Toombs, president of each one of the three institutions, is held accountable for the shortage.

The insurance company is the International Life; the brokerage house is Toombs and Daly, and the bank is the Downers Grove Bank.

Two receivers have been appointed for the insurance company, which faces an indicated shortage of $3,500,000, one receiver has been appointed for the brokerage house with an alleged shortage of $2,000,000; while Attorney General Shartel has demanded payment of $100,000 from the Downers Grove Bank.

Toombs is alleged to have ordered issuance of a certificate for 10,000 shares of stock which did not exist, and then to have borrowed upon that certificate approximately $500,000.

During more than a week of intensive investigation, Toombs has remained in Chicago, asserting that the missing insurance company assets are "tied up," that they can be produced "within 30 days."

The interlocking nature of the indicated shortage, according to testimony of T. J. Reynolds, vice president of the insurance company, came about when Toombs induced International to purchase for cash $3,500,000 worth of bonds from his own brokerage company.

Toombs further suggested that International sell the bonds, plus a quantity of real estate mortgages, for a total of $7,800,000. It was agreed, he said, and Toombs went to Chicago to wind up the transaction.

Instead of sending cash for the bonds, Reynolds said, Toombs sent time certificates of deposit on the Downers Grove Bank, which is capitalized at $100,000.

The International directors refused the certificates, and demanded return of the bonds, which thus far Toombs has failed to do, Reynolds said.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—Roy C. Toombs, president of the International Life Insurance Co., was released by Municipal Judge George M. Curran here today when a fugitive warrant expected from St. Louis failed to arrive.

Washington, Aug. 15.—(UP)—The National Aeronautic association of the United States has been declared permanent owner of the Gordon Bennett trophy for winning three successive international balloon races, it was announced at association headquarters here today.

OUTSTANDING STEP TOWARD PEACE OF NATIONS

AN INTERNATIONAL MILESTONE OF DECADE SINCE ARMIS-TICE WAS SIGNED

PRESIDENT SPEAKS BEFORE
15,000 PERSONS, INCLUDING VETERANS AT WAUSAU

By ROBERT MOOREFIELD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Wausau, Wis., Aug. 15.—President Coolidge today acclaimed the Kellogg anti-war treaty, soon to be signed in Paris, as the outstanding step toward international peace in the decade since the armistice was signed in 1918.

The president spoke before 15,000 persons, including several thousand veterans who saw combat service in the world war, at the Wisconsin convention of the American Legion.

The occasion gave the president the second opportunity of his summer vacation to advocate international good will, forming a background for his remarks on American military history.

Mr. Coolidge and his official party, including John and Mrs. Coolidge, arrived here shortly after 10 A. M. today, after an overnight journey from the summer White House.

A brief reception was held at the station and then the presidential party was escorted to the Marathon county fair grounds. Mr. Coolidge was introduced by Mark Schneller, state Legion commander.

SAY U. S. MAY SOON HAVE TO IMPORT ITS ROAST BEEF

London, Aug. 15.—(U.P.)—The United States, long the world's greatest producer of meat, may be forced soon to import its beef, in the opinion of Lord Kysant.

Lord Kysant (magnate and president of the Federation of Chambers of Commerce) made the prediction in an address yesterday at the Pembroke-shire agriculture fair at Haversford-west.

Argentine meat will have to be exported to the United States within two or three years "unless American farmers produce considerably more cattle," he said.

COSTES POSTPONES ATLANTIC FLIGHT

Paris, Aug. 15.—(U.P.)—Dieudonne Costes postponed his trans-Atlantic flight today until Friday at the earliest because of rain and adverse ocean winds.

His Breguet plane, which he had been testing at Le Bourget air field, was returned to Villacoublay, its base.

The Breguet plane was given a two-hour test flight yesterday and showed a take off speed of approximately 125 miles an hour. Costes said it would be sufficiently fueled for a 60 hour flight.

DEPUTY U. S. MARSHAL HELD ON VARIOUS CHARGES IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Aug. 15.—(UP)—Deputy U. S. Marshal Richard J. Murphy, assigned to the prohibition department, was held here today for shooting two men, striking a woman and resisting police.

While on his way to serve warrants on several dry law violators, Murphy became involved in a street quarrel. When a crowd gathered, he whipped out his revolver and fired into it, police said.

One bullet struck Arthur Bandy, 27, in the hip. Another hit Edward Tracy, 29. Six patrolmen were needed to put the dry agent, who was said to be intoxicated, in a cell.

HEAVIEST RAIN OF SEASON FALLS

Basements in Down Town District and Many in Residential Dis-

2.52 INCHES RAINFALL

Telephone Company Crews Busy Today Restoring Broken Lines of Communication

Repair crews sought today to restore broken communication lines in and about Brainerd following the heaviest rain storm recorded in many years.

Three long distance lines and more than a score of city lines were damaged by the wind and 2.52 inches of rainfall.

Basements in the down-town districts were flooded as well as many basements in the residential district.
The Paul Jones Confectionery on the corner of Laurel and Sixth streets, reports goods damaged in the basement to the extent of $200. The water was over the curbing at the corner of Sixth and Laurel streets and formed a regular river running south. One foot of water was reported in the basement of the Elks building. According to Bob Block the water still stood two or three inches deep in the bowling alley.

At the corner of North Fifth and Kingwood streets the water surged over the curbing and almost to the porches of the surrounding houses.

Five cars were stalled at the corner of Broadway and Kingwood streets at about 10:30 o'clock last night on account of the downpour.
Three cars were reported stalled in front of the court house at about the same hour where the water stood over the curbing.

Municipal field is a veritable lake today. Sand was washed into the grandstand to the height of two feet by last night's torrents. The sand along the retaining wall on the west side of the field piled up to within two feet of the top of the wall.

D. H. Fullerton and several others reported branches torn from trees by the high wind that preceded the storm.

Gregory Park had a veritable lake on the south side after the deluge last night.

Last Evening's Heavy Rain Drives
Them From Their "Rest" Tents

FIND REFUGE IN PAVILION

At 3 P. M. Today Dancers Had Recorded 423rd Hour of Hoofing

Last evening's heavy rain forced the remaining marathon dancers to flee from their "rest" tents and, in order to keep the bedding from floating away, the dancers' belongings were moved into the dance pavilion.
All appeared in good condition today at 3 P. M. as they began the 423rd hour of the long grind.

Last night another assortment of gifts presented to the dancers on Sunday's gift night were distributed among the dancers. The dancers seem to enjoy these gifts greatly.
On account of the rain last night many dance enthusiasts failed to attend the marathon but a group of dance lovers visited the pavilion early this morning to review the marathonists after having been at Little Pine.

The dancers seem in much better condition today than they did yesterday when the excessive heat made dancing almost unbearable. The rain seems to have revived their spirits and although they experienced a rather hard night they seem very lively today. From 4 to 6 o'- clock in the morning is always the time when the tempers are the shortest and the hours the longest for them. They are looking forward to tonight when the management has scheduled a public dance in conjunction with the marathon. The dancers appear anxious to see other couples than themselves away to the music of the Northern Serenaders.

No. 3 lady, Ann Gruber, now dancing with the "Sheik," appears in almost as good condition as her untiring partner. She has revived wonderfully since yesterday when she seemed on the verge of quitting the race.

"Monty" of couple No. 2 and his new partner, "Estelle," of couple No.
4 are fast becoming favorites with the fans. "Estelle" continues the same steady pace while big "Monty" appears in far better condition than he did a week ago.

Smiling Mrs. Gladys Houston, of Brainerd, who so recently forged to the front among the favorites, is dancing alone and appears to have a fine chance of winning the marathon.

"Camera" Call Changes to "Play Ball" Command

The command to "Play Ball!" substituted for the order "Camera!"
when Richard Dix started his new

For "Warming Up" is a story of the baseball diamond, with the popu-

John McGraw.

"Warming Up" which will show at the Park theatre this Friday and Saturday, is expected by Paramount officials to ring again the high note of popular acclaim that sounded after release of the Dix picture, "The baseball lots is filled with machine gun action, come-y situations abound and the role for the star is said to be

DENY EXISTENCE OF SECRET TERMS IN NEW NAVAL PACT

Paris, Aug. 15.—(U.P.)—The existence of secret terms in the Franco-British naval accord was denied by foreign office officials today.

Reports had been printed in British and American newspapers charging the existence of hidden protocols. It was intimated the agreement was so far reaching that it even covered an understanding regarding the strength of the French army.

The foreign office was equally insistent that Secretary Kellogg's visit for the signing of the anti-war agreement would not be made the occasion for bringing up the naval problem.

CHECKING UP MINNESOTA LAKES

WE, as well as outsiders from other states, have often wondered if there was real truth connected to the appellation of 10,000 lakes of Minnesota. A state official has now made an exhaustive examination of Minnesota's lakes and declares there is a total of about 11,000 lakes within the state's borders with a total surface of 3,701 square miles. So, instead of being boastful without reason, Minnesota is moderate in her estimate when she claims to be a land of 10,000 lakes. The only thing we are short on, is enough names for all the lakes. Many are duplications, many are nameless and many are far from being euphonious.

If you should want to go fishing in Long lake, you have a choice of no less than 90 lakes by that name in Minnesota.

Should you decide on Mud lake or Rice lake, for instance, you have the choice of 91 lakes by the former name and 76 by the latter.

In addition there are 43 Bass lakes, 40 Twin lakes, 39 Round lakes, 36 Clear lakes, 32 Sand or Sandy lakes, and 25 each of Pine and Cedar lakes.

There are a dozen or so each of Spring, Turtle, Fish, Duck, Horseshoe, Island, Silver and Goose lakes and many others.

This duplication of names of Minnesota lakes is brought out in advance sheets of an explanatory preface to a gazetteer of meandered lakes in Minnesota, which is being compiled for publication under the direction of E. V. Willard, state drainage commissioner.

This gazetteer will list by counties no less than 5,500 meandered lakes in the state, including 33 border lakes, according to Willard who also says the state has fully an equal number of lakes not meandered making a total of about 11,000 lakes within Minnesota's borders.

Of the 5,500 lakes listed there are 1,009 without names, Willard said.

The total surface of the lakes listed is 2,368,494 acres, or 3,701 square miles.

Willard and employees of his department have worked for several years to compile the information to be published in the gazetteer. They have been assisted by forest rangers, game wardens, county and town officials, secretaries of commercial clubs and other local organizations, who furnished prompt and accurate information regarding lakes in their various territories.

Willard points out that such names of lakes as Swede, Scandinavian, Ole, Nelson, Olson, Johnson and Peterson vie for honors with such as O'Brien, Murphy, O'Leary, Dunnigan, Riley and Kelly, while others such as Coffee, Sugar, Ham, Sandwich, Egg, Potato, Cranberry, Plum, Lobster and Pie lakes may appeal to the hungry.

Scowflaws might be more interested in such as Rum, Whiskey and Bootleg lakes, the preface intimates, while lakes bearing such names as Devil, Dead Fish, Dead Horse, Dead Man, Pig's Eye and Dirty Nose should provide material for editors of "funny columns." In Willard's opinion these names may be picturesque, but are hardly to be called attractive.

Names of many Minnesota lakes are poetic in their appeal, like Mille Lacs, Sylvan, Mirage, Echo, Alpine, Sunset and Marine, while others perpetuate historic personages like Sibley, Hennepin, La Salle, Fernando de Soto, Calhoun and Traverse.

While not a few Minnesota lakes bear Indian names—Minnetonka, Winona, Pokegama, Minnewaska, Wagano, Kabetogama and Winnibigoshish—Willard sees more beauty in these names than in some of the "jarring and unromantic" appellations "which have been wished on some of our prettiest lakes." He suggests that many more might well be named out of the Indian lexicon, replacing the inappropriate and unmerited titles.

GOLF ON INCREASE

GOLF is on the increase, says John F. McGovern, sports editor of the Minneapolis Journal. Here are the arguments advanced by Mr. McGovern, in his column in the Journal:

The State Open Golf championship is under way at Midland Hills. Jimmy Johnston, the present head of the golf works in this commonwealth, is defending his title against all the prominent amateurs and pros. The going should be interesting and the golf class high.

There will not be as large a representation from out state as expected because some of the pros from up country have busy times ahead and cannot get away. The same is true of the amateurs. There is another reason for some of the boys being a bit apathetic about the big affair.

There have been so many golf tournaments about the state lately that many of the turf tossers are golfed out for the moment. The Resorters tournament at Alexandria was concluded Sunday. That was the largest affair ever staged in the state.

The week before the Annual Ten Thousand Lakes tournament at Breezy Point attracted another large delegation. Before that there was the State Amateur at Bemidji, which drew as large an attendance as any state affair in the Twin Cities.

Before the state there was the Central Minnesota at Sauk Center which was preceded by the Southern Minnesota. August 26 the golfers from the Red River Valley towns will meet at Crookston. September 2 the Western Minnesota Association will hold its event at Ortonville. In addition to these events there have been many regional and sectional tournaments. Hence, the boys are grabbing a needed breathing spell at the moment.

Golf throughout Minnesota towns shows an increased participation among citizens of the smaller communities. New courses appear every year. Young players of promise appear at these smaller events who show signs of developing into top notchers. The time has passed when the good golfers may all be found in big cities. It will not be many years before the out staters will figure as prominently in the State Open as the boys from the big towns.

Do You Buy Advertised Goods?

Of course you do; everybody does. Just run over in your mind the various articles that you have purchased in the last week or the last month. How about foods? Your breakfast fruits, cereals and bacon are all advertised. Probably that is how you first came to know of them—through advertising. Probably the shoes you are wearing, or the dress or suit you have on are equally well-known advertised makes, and you are proud of them.

In the home. On the floor are rugs and linoleum—the better wearing kinds are extensively advertised. What about the kitchen? Aluminum ware, gas ranges, hot water heaters, dish and clothes washers, cooking utensils of all kinds—practically everything you use is advertised. You buy advertised products because you have confidence in them. You know that a manufacturer cannot afford to advertise shoddy or unworthy merchandise.

CHECKING UP MINNESOTA LAKES

WE, as well as outsiders from other states, have often wondered if there was real truth connected to the appellation of 10,000 lakes of Minnesota. A state official has now made an exhaustive examination of Minnesota's lakes and declares there is a total of about 11,000 lakes within the state's borders with a total surface of 3,701 square miles. So, instead of being boastful without reason, Minnesota is moderate in her estimate when she claims to be a land of 10,000 lakes. The only thing we are short on, is enough names for all the lakes. Many are duplications, many are nameless and many are far from being euphonious.

If you should want to go fishing in Long lake, you have a choice of no less than 90 lakes by that name in Minnesota.

Should you decide on Mud lake or Rice lake, for instance, you have the choice of 91 lakes by the former name and 76 by the latter.

In addition there are 43 Bass lakes, 40 Twin lakes, 39 Round lakes, 36 Clear lakes, 32 Sand or Sandy lakes, and 25 each of Pine and Cedar lakes.

There are a dozen or so each of Spring, Turtle, Fish, Duck, Horseshoe, Island, Silver and Goose lakes and many others.

This duplication of names of Minnesota lakes is brought out in advance sheets of an explanatory preface to a gazetteer of meandered lakes in Minnesota, which is being compiled for publication under the direction of E. V. Willard, state drainage commissioner.

This gazetteer will list by counties no less than 5,500 meandered lakes in the state, including 33 border lakes, according to Willard who also says the state has fully an equal number of lakes not meandered making a total of about 11,000 lakes within Minnesota's borders.

Of the 5,500 lakes listed there are 1,009 without names, Willard said.

The total surface of the lakes listed is 2,368,494 acres, or 3,701 square miles.

GOOD OFFENSE DECLARED BEST DEFENSE IN CAGE GAME

PHILOSOPHY OF COACH DEAN OF INDIANA U.

WILL STRESS OFFENSIVE BASKETBALL IN HIS COURSE AT CAMP

COACHES SCHOOL STARTS AUG. 17, RUNS TO AUG. 27 AT CAMP LINCOLN FOR BOYS

Hubert, Minn., Aug. 15.—That a good offense is the best defense in basketball is the philosophy of Everett S. Dean, coach of basketball at Indiana University, Western Conference co-champions last season, and formerly coach at Carleton College. Offensive basketball is what he will stress in his ten-day course in basketball coaching which will start at Camp Lincoln for Boys near here on August 17 and continue until Aug. 27.

"My experience at Carleton and my games with Minnesota teams since then," says Coach Dean, "have led me to believe that the defensive game is better developed in this section of the country than anywhere else. Teams in this section play a strong five-man zone defense. When defense is over-stressed and the game lacks much offensive play, spectators are apt to lose interest. For that reason, I am going to stress only offensive play in my series of lectures and discussions."

Coach Dean has long been known as a producer of teams that were brilliant on the offensive. Averaging forty points a game in the twelve contests it played in the Western Conference last season, his team set up a new Big Ten scoring record. It won ten games to tie the Purdue for the championship. In his four years at Indiana, Dean has twice produced championship teams and twice teams that placed second.

Provision will be made at Camp Lincoln, located fifteen miles north of Brainerd, to care for coaches who attend the course. Besides the lectures by Coach Dean, discussions on basketball problems and officiating will be held each evening around a campfire.

HAGEN, FARRELL MAY PLAY FOR THE WORLD'S OPEN TITLE

New York, Aug. 15.—(U.P.)—Walter Hagen, British open champion and Johnny Farrell, United States open champion, probably will play for the world's open title if Hagen accepts Farrell's challenge. The first match probably will be played at Detroit, Wednesday, Aug. 29.

The precedent of the two champions playing was set in 1921 when Jack Hutchinson met Jim Barnes. It was discontinued in 1926 when Bobby Jones won both titles.

WILL RISK HIS HEAVYWEIGHT PRESTIGE

FOE IS CHAMPION'S TOUGHEST OPPONENT IN UNLIMITED DIVISION

ROBERTI, NOVICE A YEAR AGO, IS NOW A DANGEROUS CONTENDER

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Aug. 15.—Rubbery Johnny Risko, who has whipped Paulino Uzcudun, Jack Sharkey and George Godfrey, will risk his heavyweight prestige in a 10-round bout tonight at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, against Roberto Roberti, the Italian giant.

Not content with having the best claim of any of the heavyweights to the title vacated by Gene Tunney, Risko plunges back into action tonight, and his foe is the toughest man in the unlimited division.

Little more than a novice a year ago, Roberti has developed into a dangerous contender and is in a position to establi himself to the top of the title claimants.

No man has beaten Risko since Tom Heeney won a close decision at Detroit last fall. Since that defeat Risko has defeated Sharkey and Godfrey, two of the outstanding contenders. Risko is the only prominent heavyweight who fought both Tunney and Heeney. Risko fought Tunney in the last bout before Gene won the title.

In Tunney's own words Risko can "throw more gloves from more directions than any other fighter in the ring." Risko rushed Tunney off his feet in the first round of their bout, and Tunney only won the decision after changing his style by stepping inside Risko's punches instead of backing away.

Harry Wills, the "former black menace," has been coaching Roberti for more than two months, and is said to have made an improved fighter out of the big Italian. Wills is scheduled to be in Roberti's corner tonight.

Roberti has an iron jaw, and has taken the best shots of some of the hardest hitters since coming to this country. There is little chance that Risko will stop him. If there is a knockout, Roberti may be the one to put over the finishing punch, but that is a remote possibility, considering Risko's record of having been stopped only one time.

Use of Gas in War

The War department says that Germany has been credited with the first use of gas in the World war. Gas had been used in previous wars. The first instance in the World war on record when gas was released by the German military forces was on April 22, 1915, at 4:30 p. m., on the Belgium front between Bixchoote and Langemark, north of Ypres.

THEY KNEW IT A YEAR AGO

While every one puzzled over Gene Tunney's strange conduct and wandered at his retirement as world's heavyweight champion, he knew and Mary Josephine Lauder (at his left) knew that matrimony was on the horizon. Caroline Bishop (at extreme left), who was once said to be Tunney's sweetheart, will be a bridesmaid at the wedding.

Watching the Scoreboard

(By United Press)

Yesterday's Hero—Grover Cleveland Alexander, St. Louis Cardinal pitcher, who held the Boston Braves to seven scattered hits, the Cardinals winning 6 to 1. This victory enabled the Cardinals to maintain their two and one-half game lead over the New York Giants.

Larry Benton turned in his 19th victory of the season when the New York Giants defeated the Chicago Cubs 10 to 2. O'Doul led the attack on five Chicago pitchers by driving in three runs.

Grady Adkins had the better of Fred Heimach in a pitching duel, the Chicago White Sox winning from the New York Yankees, 5 to 2.

The Philadelphia Athletics were blocked in their attempt to advance by Elam Van Gilder of the Detroit Tigers, who allowed nine hits to defeat the A's 4 to 1, the margin between the Yankees and the Athletics remaining four and one-half games.

The Pittsburgh Pirates made it two straight over the Dodgers, winning 4 to 2. Carmen Hill allowed six hits scattered over as many innings.

Wildness on the part of Adolph Luque aided the Phillies to defeat the Cincinnati Reds, 6 to 4. Luque walked six batters.

George Uhle held the Boston Red Sox to five hits, to give the Cleveland Indians a 2 to 1 victory.

Sad Sam Jones scored his second straight shutout at the expense of the St. Louis Browns. The Senators obtained an early lead, winning 3 to 0.

Snake Belief a Myth

There is a small, harmless reptile of the more southerly United States which is called a hoop snake. And it takes its name from the notion that it curves itself in a hoop and thus travels along at a great rate of speed. But the idea is without the least foundation, and the tales of rolling hoop snakes are purely mythical.

Douglas Fir

The timber of the Douglas fir is sold under various names—Douglas fir, Columbian pine and Oregon pine. The tree grows throughout the southern part of British Columbia and the sawn lumber is shipped from Pacific coast ports.

The two vessels and the airplanes of the expedition will cost about $160,000; the 100 dogs will cost about $3,500; salaries will amount to $90,000 and in addition there will be 1,000 books in the expedition's library.

"Hooking" Airplanes

On aircraft carriers wires are stretched across the deck of the ship. An airplane landing on such a deck is equipped with a long hook which is dropped from the plane and catches in the wires, thus bringing the plane to a stop.

Valuable Lichens

Several species of lichens are of economic importance, yielding dyes and foodstuffs. Iceland moss is edible, yielding a nutritious jelly. Reindeer moss is the principal food of the Lapland reindeer in the winter. Archil, a violet dye, is obtained from Rocella tinctoria, Rocella fuciformis and Lecanora tartarea. Litmus, also a dyestuff, is obtained from these lichens by exposure to the air in the presence of ammonia, potassium carbonate, etc.

By QUIN HALL

It looks very much as if a young feller named George Pipgras, who was doing some first-class flinging for the New York Yankees, will finish well up among the notables in the American League this season.

George made a mighty commendable record with the Yanks last year and finished off the season by winning the second game of the World's Series last fall. He held the heavy-hitting Pirates to seven well-scattered bingles and seemed to take up the business of pitching at the start of this year just where he left off last October with that Pittsburgh victory.

At least George did very well in the matter of piling up wins for the Yanks early in the season and promises to help wreck a good many more ball games before the end of the season. And he's doing a good job of it in spite of the fact that watching the Yanks play against most of the opposition in the league rather resembles watching a gent shoot fish in a bucket.

George might be said to have started his climb to fame while he was shooting them off the mound arrayed in overalls and a serviceable blue denim shirt. While there he had offers from Joplin, Mo., and perhaps the shirt wasn't blue, but he's not backward about admitting that his early baseballing was confined to Sunday afternoon games and that he earned his keep and his chance to play ball by catering to a lot of farm animals out near Woodstock, Minn.

The team with which he played did not boast of any uniforms and they had no extra equipment. If they had broken many of their bats during any afternoon they might have been forced to borrow maces from the opponents or else call off the game on account of lack of rigging. George was the Woodstock pitcher. In fact, George was THE Woodstock pitcher.

His first bid for recognition came in a game he pitched against the Jasper team, a neighborhood aggregation, in the Spring of 1920. Jasper won the contest, but Pipgras made such a good impression that the Jasper manager offered him a job. George, however, didn't accept the offer, but the following day when he was offered a job pitching for a team in Fulda, Minn., at a salary of $400 and keep, he bid the hogs, sheep and horses a fond farewell and started his baseball career in earnest.

On Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays during 1920 he played with Fulda. When he didn't pitch he worked in the outfield. Fulda had no prima donnas. While there he had offers from Joplin, Mo., and the Chicago White Sox. He had promised Joplin first bid on his services and they held him to his promise, but farmed him out to Saginaw. He didn't like that farming angle and besides he was pretty wild, and after walking fifteen men in five innings he lost his job. He signed with the Madison club and remained with that team all during 1921.

That winter he was drafted by the Boston Red Sox and after going through Spring training with them he was farmed out to the Charleston, S. C., team. Pipgras struck a good stride that year and Charleston won the pennant. That winter he was traded to the Yankees as part of the Yankee-Red Sox deal that also put Penock and Harvey Hendrick in New York.

George was fast but wild, but Miller Huggins figured that he'd make the grade eventually and kept him with the Yankees during 1923 and 1924, but farmed him out to Atlanta in 1925. He didn't prove impressive at Atlanta and he went to Nashville, still the property of the Yanks, for the remainder of the season. The following season Huggins sent him to St. Paul where he won 23 and lost 18.

In 1927 the Yankees retained him and he's made good ever since. And he'll likely be a big asset to the Yanks in the World's Series this fall. And it must be that Fulda is pretty proud of its former resident.

GOOD OFFENSE DECLARED BEST DEFENSE IN CAGE GAME

PHILOSOPHY OF COACH DEAN OF INDIANA U.

COACHES SCHOOL STARTS AUG. 17, RUNS TO AUG. 27 AT CAMP LINCOLN FOR BOYS

Hubert, Minn., Aug. 15.—That a good offense is the best defense in basketball is the philosophy of Everett S. Dean, coach of basketball at Indiana University, Western Conference co-champions last season, and formerly coach at Carleton College. Offensive basketball is what he will stress in his ten-day course in basketball coaching which will start at Camp Lincoln for Boys near here on August 17 and continue until Aug. 27.

"My experience at Carleton and my games with Minnesota teams since then," says Coach Dean, "have led me to believe that the defensive game is better developed in this section of the country than anywhere else. Teams in this section play a strong five-man zone defense. When defense is over-stressed and the game lacks much offensive play, spectators are apt to lose interest. For that reason, I am going to stress only offensive play in my series of lectures and discussions."

Coach Dean has long been known as a producer of teams that were brilliant on the offensive. Averaging forty points a game in the twelve contests it played in the Western Conference last season, his team set up a new Big Ten scoring record. It won ten games to tie Purdue for the championship. In his four years at Indiana, Dean has twice produced championship teams and twice teams that placed second.

Provision will be made at Camp Lincoln, located fifteen miles north of Brainerd, to care for coaches who attend the course. Besides the lectures by Coach Dean, discussions on basketball problems and officiating will be held each evening around a campfire.

HAGEN, FARRELL MAY PLAY FOR THE WORLD'S OPEN TITLE

New York, Aug. 15.—(U.P.)—Walter Hagen, British open champion and Johnny Farrell, United States open champion, probably will play for the world's open title if Hagen accepts Farrell's challenge. The first match probably will be played at Detroit, Wednesday, Aug. 29.

The precedent of the two champions playing was set in 1921 when Jack Hutchinson met Jim Barnes. It was discontinued in 1926 when Bobby Jones won both titles.

WILL RISK HIS HEAVYWEIGHT PRESTIGE

FOE IS CHAMPION'S TOUGHEST OPPONENT IN UNLIMITED DIVISION

ROBERTI, NOVICE A YEAR AGO, IS NOW A DANGEROUS CONTENDER

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Aug. 15.—Rubbery Johnny Risko, who has whipped Paolino Uzcudun, Jack Sharkey and George Godfrey, will risk his heavyweight prestige in a 10-round bout tonight at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, against Roberto Roberti, the Italian giant.

Not content with having the best claim of any of the heavyweights to the title vacated by Gene Tunney, Risko plunges back into action tonight, and his foe is the toughest man in the unlimited division.

Little more than a novice a year ago, Roberti has developed into a dangerous contender and is in a position to catapult himself to the top of the title claimants.

No man has beaten Risko since Tom Heeney won a close decision at Detroit last fall. Since that defeat Risko has defeated Sharkey and Godfrey, two of the outstanding contenders. Risko is the only prominent heavyweight who fought both Tunney and Heeney. Risko fought Tunney in the last bout before Gene won the title.

Harry Willis, the "former black menace," has been coaching Roberti for more than two months, and is said to have made an improved fighter out of the big Italian. Willis is scheduled to be in Roberti's corner tonight.

Roberti has an iron jaw, and has taken the best shots of some of the hardest hitters since coming to this country. There is little chance that Risko will stop him. If there is a knockout, Roberti may be the one to put over the finishing punch, but that is a remote possibility, considering Risko's record of having been stopped only one time.

HARRY CURTIS LEAR, AGE 15, DISAPPEARS

Last Seen on Sunday Afternoon When He Told Stepmother He Going to a Picnic

AUTHORITIES FIND NO CLUES
Father is a Railway Machinist Employed at Chicago, Relatives Almost Prostrated

Harry Curtis Lear, age 15, left his home at 918 Fir street on Sunday afternoon, telling his stepmother, Mrs. William B. Lear, that he was to go to a picnic, and has not been seen since. On Monday morning Mrs. Lear, after a sleepless night waiting for the boy to return, notified the authorities and they have been unable to find the boy. Today she and relatives are almost prostrated with grief and apprehension.

The boy is tall for his age, and according to the description given the Dispatch by Mrs. Lear he is almost 5 feet nine inches in height, weighs about 130 pounds, has blue eyes, light hair, and wore black oxford, dark blue trousers, light blue broadcloth shirt and light gray cap.

He was for many years a carrier of the Dispatch and people on his route are well acquainted with the manly, sturdy boy who was always so prompt on his route.

Drivers of a milk company where he had odd employment, said he had been in conversation with an elderly woman on Sunday afternoon at the office of the company. That he then asked one of the drivers to give him a lift home and that he went to 918 Fir street and dressed in his Sunday clothes.

This corresponds with the story of his stepmother who said he had dressed to go to a picnic. The "picnic," after examination proved to be pure fiction.

He then rode from 918 Fir street, downtown, and at the Van's cafe left the truck, saying to the driver, "he was going south and goodbye to Brainerd."

The father is a railway machinist employed at Chicago and Mrs. Lear, who had taken care of the boy since he was three years old, was to join him in a few days with Harry.

Mr. Lear has been notified and will undertake a search for the boy at Chicago and vicinity.

Mrs. Saul Whitted returned home Saturday from the Pine River hospital where she had spent several weeks after undergoing a serious operation.

PLYMOUTH REMARKABLE CAR

Has Outstanding Chassis Performance Capacity, Fine Body Construction Points Out Dealer

The new Chrysler-Plymouth's outstanding success naturally has attracted considerable attention to its features of engineering, design, manufacture and body construction, points out Ed Brandt, of the Scenic Highway garage. Study of these and a demonstration of the car's abilities, says Mr. Brandt, reveal it as combining unusual chassis ability with fine body construction and luxurious appointments never known heretofore to cars in the low-price field. They delivered their first Plymouth last week.

"Buyers in the low-price field, equally as much as anyone else, seek the greatest value for their dollar—in appearance, performance, prestige, refinements and all-around genuine worth," he continues. "The days of buying mere transportation—something to get you there and back—are gone forever. The low-priced car buyer is demanding equally as much for his dollar as he who pays $1500 or more for his car. Chrysler sensed this, and the Plymouth's great success is proof positive that this car meets a need heretofore never fulfilled."

Describing the car, Mr. Brandt, pointed out these features:

The heart of any car is its engine. That in the Chrysler-Plymouth is large and powerful, fast in acceleration, flexible in traffic, splendid on the hills and finely built to give long service at minimum cost.

The crankshaft, mounted in three bronze-backed, babbit lined bearings and drilled to force oil to the connecting rod bearings, is another superior feature. All bearings are large.

Cylinder block and crankcase are cast in one piece, fully ribbed and rigidly supported at the center in girder-like fashion.

Connecting rods are I-beam section drop forgings. Carefully balanced and weighed, they must not vary more than two one-hundredths of a pound in sets of four.

Pistons are special light aluminum alloy, open between head and skirt for proper oil return and to aid cooling.

Camshaft is drop forged with all cams integral. Large bearings give ample rigidity.

Lubrication is high pressure to all crankshaft and connecting rod bearings and to the center camshaft bearing.

Mushroom type valve tappets have specially chilled iron heads.

Valves are extra large. Inlet valves are chrome nickel steel and exhaust silchrome steel, slightly smaller than the inlet for greater power in proportion to engine size.

Special combustion chamber design spins the entering gas charge, causes its break-up into smaller particles and affords more complete combustion, more efficient burning and greater power.

Carburetor is the plain tube, multiple jet type, equipped with air cleaner.

Clutch is of the single dry plate type, in accordance with the modern trend.

Rear axle is semi-floating, equipped with tapered roller bearings throughout.

Springs are semi-elliptic, long, practically flat under normal load and equipped with plates to overcome rebound on rough roads.

Drive is Hotchkiss type, permitting greater flexibility and less unsprung weight.

Internal expanding hydraulic four wheel brakes are standard.

Standard high pressure gun lubrication is provided for the chassis.

Cooling is thermo-siphon system, with typically large Chrysler capacity—14 quarts.

GRAVE APPREHENSION OF FLOOD IN INDUS VALLEY RENEWED

Karachi, India, Aug. 15.—(UP)—Grave apprehension of a flood in the Indus valley was renewed today.

The wazir, or town head of Leh, in the Indus valley north of the Himalayas, telegraphed the Punjab government at Lahore today, warning of imminent danger.

Leh is the nearest telegraph point to the spot, 17,000 high in the mountains, where a glacial barrier has pent up a great lake in the river pass.

The wazir cautioned the Indus valley areas in the path the water would take of the dangerous condition of the weakened ice dam. It was feared the bursting of the glacier was imminent.

TRUSTEES NAMED TOO

Location of 1929 Outing to Be Decided at March Meeting of the Association

At a meeting of the Jericho Outing association at the Oddfellows hall in Ironton Monday evening officers were elected for the ensuing year. E. J. Haymaker of Motley was named president of the association with Ray Fredstrom of Brainerd as vice-president. E. H. Emery of Ironton was elected to the secretary's post and J. R. Patterson of Staples treasurer.

Lon Field of Pine River was elected to a three year term as trustee of the organization, and Andrew Johnson of Little Falls was named as a trustee to serve for a one year period.

The last picnic of the association was held in Brainerd at Lum Park on July 22, and attracted about 4,000 people. The outing was self supporting and adjudged one of the most successful held.

The site for the next picnic will not be named until a meeting of the association sometime in March of 1929. The ten or fifteen lodges of the association will decide the location among themselves. Each city that wishes the outing will bid for it. Pine River, Ironton, Little Falls, and Brainerd will probably be among the likely contenders for the honor.

Antonius Viken, Brothorn of Julius Viken, Invents New Camera

IS A DOUBLE CAMERA

Inventor to Have Charge of Manufacturing Same With Underwood Firm

Julius Viken, wire chief of the telephone company here, recently received word that his younger brother Antonius has sold one of his inventions, "The Beidler-Viken Method of Child Photography" to Underwood and Underwood, nationally known photographers and will move to New York City from his home in Chicago to accept a position with the Underwood people.

Antonius Viken was vice-president of the Cameron Beidler Studio, 820 South Michigan Ave., Chicago when he received his offer from Underwood and Underwood. He perfected his new camera, which is in reality a double camera, after a year's experimentation. He then made quite a few of the cameras himself and went among the wealthiest of Chicago families to take pictures of the children. The parents were delighted with the work of the new camera and Underwood and Underwood were attracted to the young inventor.

Mr. Viken will have charge of the manufacturing of his camera with the Underwood firm and also will do a great deal of work along the line of developing new ideas. Beidler, Viken's partner in Chicago, will have charge of the training of photographers with Underwood and Underwood.

"I can make more now in one day than I used to make with you in a month," writes the inventor to his brother Julius here. He is guaranteed more than $18,000 a year, and is to have a per cent of the profit on each one of his new cameras that is manufactured.

Antonius used to work with Julius when he had charge of the telephone lines at Vermillion, South Dakota. He had photographic studios in Sioux City, Iowa and in Waterloo, Iowa. He moved from the latter place to Chicago in 1918. He has made several telescopes for astronomy besides his work in the photographic field.

Julius Viken also has an older brother John, now residing in Norway who has done some inventive work. He invented a radio transmitter for loud speakers and telephones that is still on the radio market although invented several years ago. John Viken toured Europe to put this product on the market and now it is manufactured and sold in every European country, excepting Russia, as well as in the United States. While in Europe, London was Mr. Viken's headquarters. He also invented a lockout system for farm telephone lines to keep farmers from listening in on each others telephone conversations. A number of these appliances have been installed around Chicago and in certain parts of Indiana.

John Viken was also working for Julius Viken when the latter was located at Vermillion, South Dakota. The father of the three Viken boys was also in the telephone business. It seems that the knack for electrical work runs in the family.

HARRY CURTIS LEAR, AGE 15, DISAPPEARS

Last Seen on Sunday Afternoon When He Told Step-mother He Going to a Picnic

AUTHORITIES FIND NO CLUES
Father is a Railway Machinist Employed at Chicago, Relatives Almost Prostrated

Harry Curtis Lear, age 15, left his home at 918 Fir street on Sunday afternoon, telling his step-mother, Mrs. William B. Lear, that he was to go to a picnic, and has not been seen since. On Monday morning Mrs. Lear, after a sleepless night waiting for the boy to return, notified the authorities and they have been unable to find the boy. Today she and relatives are almost prostrated with grief and apprehension.

The boy is tall for his age, and according to the description given the Dispatch by Mrs. Lear he is almost 5 feet nine inches in height, weighs about 130 pounds, has blue eyes, light hair, and wore black oxford, dark blue trousers, light blue broad-cloth shirt and light gray cap.

He was for many years a carrier of the Dispatch and people on his route are well acquainted with the manly, sturdy boy who was always so prompt on his route.

Drivers of a milk company where he had odd employment, said he had been in conversation with an elderly woman on Sunday afternoon at the office of the company. That he then asked one of the drivers to give him a lift home and that he went to 918 Fir street and dressed in his Sunday clothes.

This corresponds with the story of his step-mother who said he had dressed to go to a picnic. The "picnic" after examination proved to be pure fiction.

He then rode from 918 Fir street, downtown, and at the Van's cafe left the truck, saying to the driver, "he was going south and goodbye to Brainerd".

The father is a railway machinist employed at Chicago and Mrs. Lear, who had taken care of the boy since he was three years old, was to join him in a few days with Harry.

Mr. Lear has been notified and will undertake a search for the boy at Chicago and vicinity.

GRAVE APPREHENSION OF FLOOD IN INDUS VALLEY RENEWED

Karachi, India, Aug. 15.—(UP)—Grave apprehension of a flood in the Indus valley was renewed today.

The wazir, or town head of Leh, in the Indus valley north of the Himalayas, telegraphed the Punjab government at Lahore today, warning of imminent danger.

Leh is the nearest telegraph point to the spot, 17,000 high in the mountains, where a glacial barrier has pent up a great lake in the river pass.

The wazir cautioned the Indus valley areas in the path the water would take of the dangerous condition of the weakened ice dam. It was feared the bursting of the glacier was imminent.

PLYMOUTH REMARKABLE CAR

Has Outstanding Chassis Performance Capacity, Fine Body Construction Points Out Dealer

The new Chrysler-Plymouth's outstanding success naturally has attracted considerable attention to its features of engineering, design, manufacture and body construction, points out Ed Brandt, of the Scenic Highway garage. Study of these and a demonstration of the car's abilities, says Mr. Brandt, reveal it as combining unusual chassis ability with fine body construction and luxurious appointments never known heretofore to cars in the low-price field. They delivered their first Plymouth last week.

"Buyers in the low-price field, equally as much as anyone else, seek the greatest value for their dollar—in appearance, performance, prestige, refinements and all-around genuine worth," he continues. "The days of buying mere transportation—something to get you there and back—are gone forever. The low-priced car buyer is demanding equally as much for his dollar as he who pays $1500 or more for his car. Chrysler sensed this, and the Plymouth's great success is proof positive that this car meets a need heretofore never fulfilled."

Describing the car, Mr. Brandt, pointed out these features:

The heart of any car is its engine. That in the Chrysler-Plymouth is large and powerful, fast in acceleration, flexible in traffic, splendid on the hills and finely built to give long service at minimum cost.

The crankshaft, mounted in three bronze-backed, babbit lined bearings and drilled to force oil to the connecting rod bearings, is another superior feature. All bearings are large.

Cylinder block and crankcase are cast in one piece, fully ribbed and rigidly supported at the center in girder-like fashion.

Connecting rods are I-beam section drop forgings. Carefully balanced and weighed, they must not vary more than two one-hundredths of a pound in sets of four.

Pistons are special light aluminum alloy, open between head and skirt for proper oil return and to aid cooling.

Camshaft is drop forged with all cams integral. Large bearings give ample rigidity.

Lubrication is high pressure to all crankshaft and connecting rod bearings and to the center camshaft bearing.

Mushroom type valve tappets have specially chilled iron heads.

Valves are extra large. Inlet valves are chrome nickel steel and exhaust silchrome steel, slightly smaller than the inlet for greater power in proportion to engine size.

Special combustion chamber design spins the entering gas charge, causes its break-up into smaller particles and affords more complete combustion, more efficient burning and greater power.

Carburetor is the plain tube, multiple jet type, equipped with air cleaner.

Clutch is of the single dry plate type, in accordance with the modern trend.

Rear axle is semi-floating, equipped with tapered roller bearings throughout.

Springs are semi-elliptic, long, practically flat under normal load and equipped with plates to overcome rebound on rough roads.

Drive is Hotchkiss type, permitting greater flexibility and less unsprung weight.

Internal expanding hydraulic four wheel brakes are standard.

Standard high pressure gun lubrication is provided for the chassis. Cooling is thermo-siphon system, with typically large Chrysler capacity—14 quarts.

JERICO OUTING SOCIETY ELECTS

TRUSTEES NAMED TOO

Location of 1929 Outing to Be Decided at March Meeting of the Association

At a meeting of the Jericho Outing association at the Oddfellows hall in Ironton Monday evening officers were elected for the ensuing year. E. J. Haymaker of Motley was named president of the association with Ray Fredstrom of Brainerd as vice-president. E. H. Emery of Ironton was elected to the secretary's post and J. R. Patterson of Staples treasurer.

Lon Field of Pine River was elected to a three year term as trustee of the organization, and Andrew Johnson of Little Falls was named as a trustee to serve for a one year period.

The last picnic of the association was held in Brainerd at Lum Park on July 22, and attracted about 4,000 people. The outing was self supporting and adjudged one of the most successful held.

The site for the next picnic will not be named until a meeting of the association sometime in March of 1929. The ten or fifteen lodges of the association will decide the location among themselves. Each city that wishes the outing will bid for it. Pine River, Ironton, Little Falls, and Brainerd will probably be among the likely contenders for the honor.

Antonius Viken, Brother of Julius Viken, Invents New Camera

IS A DOUBLE CAMERA

Inventor to Have Charge of Manufacturing Same With Underwood Firm

Julius Viken, wire chief of the telephone company here, recently received word that his younger brother Antonius has sold one of his inventions, "The Beidler-Viken Method of Child Photography" to Underwood and Underwood, nationally known photographers and will move to New York City from his home in Chicago to accept a position with the Underwood people.

Antonius Viken was vice-president of the Cameron Beidler Studio, 826 South Michigan Ave., Chicago when he received his offer from Underwood and Underwood. He perfected his new camera, which is in reality a double camera, after a year's experimentation. He then made quite a few of the cameras himself and went among the wealthiest of Chicago families to take pictures of the children. The parents were delighted with the work of the new camera and Underwood and Underwood were attracted to the young inventor.

Mr. Viken will have charge of the manufacturing of his camera with the Underwood firm and also will do a great deal of work along the line of developing new ideas. Beidler, Viken's partner in Chicago, will have charge of the training of photographers with Underwood and Underwood.

"I can make more now in one day than I used to make with you in a month," writes the inventor to his brother Julius here. He is guaranteed more than $18,000 a year, and is to have a per cent of the profit on each one of his new cameras that is manufactured.

Antonius used to work with Julius when he had charge of the telephone lines at Vermillion, South Dakota. He had photographic studios in Sioux City, Iowa and in Waterloo, Iowa. He moved from the latter place to Chicago in 1918. He has made several telescopes for astronomy besides his work in the photographic field.

Julius Viken also has an older brother John, now residing in Norway who has done some inventive work. He invented a radio transmitter for loud speakers and telephones that is still on the radio market although invented several years ago. John Viken toured Europe to put this product on the market and now it is manufactured and sold in every European country, excepting Russia, as well as in the United States. While in Europe, London was Mr. Viken's headquarters. He also invented a lockout system for farm telephone lines to keep farmers from listening in on each others telephone conversations. A number of these appliances have been installed around Chicago and in certain parts of Indiana.

John Viken was also working for Julius Viken when the latter was located at Vermillion, South Dakota. The father of the three Viken boys was also in the telephone business. It seems that the knack for electrical work runs in the family.

Love's Ecstasy

by May Christie

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

ALEDA RAY, pretty country girl working in New York as a stenographer, and Gary Chester, young engineer, are in love. Alela is living with Marise de Renze and the latter's young, sophisticated sister, Goldie. Goldie, jealous, maliciously poisons Gary's mind with falsehoods about Alela. Goldie meets W. B. Lingard, Alela's employer, who mistakes her for Marise. Lingard accompanies Goldie home and there meets Marise—sweetheart of his youth. Eavesdropping, Goldie learns that Marise is not her sister—but her mother! She demands an explanation and Marise tells the story of her tragic early marriage to a convict, who has since died. Goldie leaves home.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XLVIII.

ALEDA—who had missed meeting Gary Chester by a mere matter of minutes—rode up Broadway from her office in an open street-car. She was unaware of the fact that, at this moment, Goldie—who had vainly tried to fascinate Gary, and, failing in that, had contrived to plant suspicion in his mind against Alela concerning the return of the $50—had extracted an invitation from William B. Lingard to dine with him on the Ritz roof that night!

The sequel to this tete-a-tete with Goldie was that Lingard, eager for a meeting with his old sweetheart—who had accompanied the girl to Marise's house. The bomb had burst, then, shatteringly, for Goldie! Stealthily listening behind the living-room curtains, she had learned, from Lingard's conversation, that—instead of being Marise's little sister, as she had been brought up to believe—she, Goldie de Renze (in actuality, Goldie Miller!) was Marise's daughter, through a youthful, hidden marriage with—a criminal!

Goldie's rage knew no limits. She would leave immediately. She would shake from her feet forever the dust of this house!

Unconscious of the drama—even tragedy!—that was occurring, Alela spent the evening by herself.

At 42nd and Broadway she left the street car, walked to the post-office, and in a registered envelope returned the $50 to Mr. Smithson with a curt, scribbled note.

She felt a little better after that, but still too restless and worried to go home.

A sandwich and a cup of coffee at a drug-store counter was her supper. Thereafter she went alone to a picture house.

Her mind full of Gary Chester, the love-story on the screen but served to make her loneliness the worse.

She stayed through the performance, however. And when she got

A week elapsed then two. No word from Gary. He came neither to the office, nor did he telephone.

As the days went by, Alela's hopes sank lower. She heard he was going to Italy. She wrote a report on some Italian water power.

She wanted to call him at the Yale Club. Yet she was shy... at the same time proud... and afraid!

Of his own accord he must get in touch with her. She couldn't take the initiative!

Marise's anxiety about Goldie had been, in a measure, lessened by the news that her young daughter had obtained a dance-engagement in a fashionable hotel in Saratoga. Clive Morchmer, who had gone up to Canada on a rum-running mission, had got wind of the truant's whereabouts and reported to Marise.

"Not a drop of liquor will come into the Harvest Moon as long as I'm hostess and entertainer!" grimly announced Marise. "So if Clive makes a big haul of bootleg, he won't get one cent from my little club!"

The meeting with her long-ago sweetheart, Lingard, had put new courage into Marise. There had been further meetings since the memorable evening when Goldie had made her exit! Despite her worries over her truant daughter, there seemed to be a second blooming and a radiance about Marise.

William B. Lingard, too, looked younger. Much of his gruffness was gone. One day—at four o'clock on a Friday—he said to Alela: "Tonight I go to Chicago on business, and won't be back before the middle of next week. You look pale and tired. Why don't you take a few days up in your country home and see your people? It will be all right with me if you're back in the office on Thursday."

She flushed at his kind tone, his thoughtfulness. And yet she hesitated, thinking of the expense...

He said: "You've worked well. I want to keep you fit. I'll get your transportation."

That evening, she was packing—assisted by Marise—when a ring came at the door-bell of the house on West Fortieth Street. Alela went down into the lobby and opened the front door.

A policeman stood on the steps. He came forward and said, gruffly: "I'm here to take Miss de Renze to the district attorney. Are you the woman I want?"

FAILS IN BUSINESS, STARS IN KITCHEN

Husband Is Forced to Work Under Eye of Wife.

Los Angeles.—If a husband is a failure in business life, try him out as the family cook; fire the maid and chauffeur and let him do their work; dispense with the laundry man and, in general, turn the errand spouse loose to make himself useful about the place.

Some such program is doubtless being advocated in many local homes, following the divorce case testimony adduced recently from Kenneth Gulick McClurg, former New Yorker, before Judge Raymond I. Turney.

McClurg's wife, the former Lillian Stanford, is attempting to divorce him on grounds of infidelity and cruelty. McClurg denies everything and is fighting the charges. When he took the stand to testify in his own behalf courtroom spectators were treated to a story as pathetically humorous as anything in divorce court history.

Says Wife Dominates Him.

Originally well to do, McClurg asserts that he was dominated by his wife. They spent almost all his fortune under her direction, he says. Then he set about to look for work. First he started a garage, but it was a failure. Then he looked for work in a department store, but failed to make the proper connections.

"When my wife learned of this failure she was furious," McClurg told Judge Turney. She discharged the servants. Some one had to do the work and she told me that I was to be the one.

"From then on I was a servant to her. I rather liked the work itself, but her attitude was intolerable. For two years, from 1925 to 1927, I submitted to it. At first I didn't resist because I loved her. When I did begin to resist it was too late."

During those two years, the testimony shows, McClurg lived an amazing life. Every meal that was cooked in the household was produced by the docile husband, and he was a good cook, even Mrs. McClurg admitted that. Dainty omelettes in the morning, tasty salads for luncheon and juicy steaks cooked to a turn at night.

Between meals McClurg was not idle. When the dishes were washed and put away he straightened the house, then washed and mended his clothes. On the frequent occasions when Mrs. McClurg and her mother wished to go out, he doffed his gingham apron, assumed the role of chauffeur and patiently drove them about, in fact, as one of the neighbors observed, he would have made a model wife for some girl who appreciated his ability.

Shy and Sensitive. The whole trouble, McClurg confessed to the jurist, was his own innate reticence. From childhood, he had been shy and sensitive. The other boys didn't understand him. He hated meeting people. As he grew older he tried to conquer himself.

But whenever he went in business his diffidence was his undoing. He would be unable to meet people and successfully put over business deals, and whatever he tried was a failure.

In rebuttal, Mrs. McClurg charged that this seemingly model husband was unfaithful and cruel. She also asserted that she had furnished $25,000 of her own money for the garage venture and that all but $500 of it was lost.

Such a problem, Judge Turney decided, is not one to be decided lightly. In the manner of the average divorce, so he took the case under advisement and that is where it now stands. Meanwhile Mrs. McClurg has gone back to her home in Santa Monica, and her estranged husband is endeavoring to avoid the threats of other husbands whose wives have pointed him out as an example of what a husband might do around the house.

Odd Welcome for Visitor

Efficiency is the watchword at the hospital for seamen in London. Lately there came a strange old man whose speech attendants could not understand. They burned his clothes, shaved him, bathed him and put him to bed with a sleeping draught. Next day it was found he had come to visit a friend.

Love's Ecstasy

by May Christie

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

ALEDA RAY, pretty country girl working in New York as a stenographer, and Gary Chester, young engineer, are in love. Alveda is living with Marise de Renze and the latter's young, sophisticated sister, Goldie. Goldie, jealous, maliciously poisons Gary's mind with falsehoods about Alveda. Goldie meets W. B. Lingard, Alveda's employer, who mistakes her for Marise. Lingard accompanies Goldie home and there meets Marise—sweetheart of his youth. Eavesdropping, Goldie learns that Marise is not her sister—but her mother! She demands an explanation and Marise tells the story of her tragic early marriage to a convict, who has since died. Goldie leaves home.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XLVIII.

ALEDA—who had missed meeting Gary Chester by a mere matter of minutes—rode up Broadway from her office in an open street-car. She was unaware of the fact that, at this moment, Goldie—who had vainly tried to fascinate Gary, and, failing in that, had contrived to plant suspicion in his mind against Alveda concerning the return of the $50—had extracted an invitation from William B. Lingard to dine with him on the Ritz roof that night!

The sequel to this tete-a-tete with Goldie was that Lingard—eager for a meeting with his old sweetheart—had accompanied the girl to Marise's house.

The bomb had burst, then, shattering, for Goldie! Stealthily listening behind the living-room curtains, she had learned, from Lingard's conversation, that—instead of being Marise's little sister, as she had been brought up to believe—she, Goldie de Renze (in actuality, Goldie Miller) was Marise's daughter, through a youthful, hidden marriage with—a criminal!

Goldie's rage knew no limits. She would leave immediately. She would shake from her feet forever the dust of this house!

Unconscious of the drama—even tragedy!—that was occurring, Alveda spent the evening by herself.

At 42nd and Broadway she left the street car, walked to the post-office, and in a registered envelope returned the $50 to Mr. Smithson with a curt, scribbled note.

She felt a little better after that, but still too restless and worried to go home.

A sandwich and a cup of coffee at a drug-store counter was her supper. Thereafter she went alone to a picture house.

Her mind full of Gary Chester, the love-story on the screen but served to make her loneliness the worse.

She stayed through the performance, however. And when she got back to the house on West Fortieth Street, it was after 11 p. m. Alveda went straight to her room.

She was awakened a couple of hours later by a flare of light in her eyes. Someone was leaning over her, giving her a little shake. "Alveda! Wake up! I've just got to talk to someone!"

It was Marise!

Then came the strange tale! "Goldie? Your—daughter? Not a sister?" Sleep forgotten, Alveda stared at Marise.

"Yes. Yes." Marise was sitting on the side of Alveda's bed. Her eyes were blazing with a variety of emotions. She had gripped Alveda's hand, and was clinging to it, as though in desperate need of some support and reassurance.

"And when Goldie got the news, she—she took it mighty badly! Went on like a fury, and accused me of ruining her life! And look at this note, Alveda!"—Marise held out a scrap of paper—"when I got back from the Harvest Moon, it was in her bedroom, on the bureau. She—oh! the poor child!—the shock's unbinding her! She's run away!" choked Marise.

"Nonsense!" Alveda pulled herself together. Astonishing as no doubt the news had been to Goldie, there was nothing insane about the cruel missive! "She's only gone off in a huff to one of her girlfriends, and she'll be back tomorrow or the next day! You just wait! And you've nothing in the world to reproach yourself with! You've been a wonderful mother to your sister—I mean, your daughter!"—Alveda patted Marise's hand sympathetically.

"You think so? From the day she was born, I've worked like a slave."

"I'm sure of it. Don't fret over Goldie. She'll be right back." Because she was fond of Marise, and William B. Lingard was her employer, and because her own sore heart was full of Gary Chester—and romance—she said, breathlessly: "Do tell me if Mr. Lingard still cares for you, Marise? You know he's never married? It must have been for your sake he remained a bachelor!"

Continued

Copyright, 1928, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

A week elapsed then two. No word from Gary. He came neither to the office, nor did he telephone.

As the days went by, Alveda's hopes sank lower. She heard he was going to Italy. Was to make a report on some Italian water power.

She wanted to call him at the Yale Club. Yet she was shy... and afraid!

Of his own accord he must get in touch with her. She couldn't take the initiative!

Marise's anxiety about Goldie had been, in a measure, lessened by the news that her young daughter had obtained a dance-engagement in a fashionable hotel in Saratoga. Clive Morimer, who had gone up to Canada on a rum-running mission, had got wind of the truant's whereabouts and reported to Marise.

"Not a drop of liquor will come into the Harvest Moon as long as I'm hostess and entertainer!" grimly announced Marise. "So if Clive makes a big haul of bootleg, he won't get one cent from my little club!"

The meeting with her long-ago sweetheart, Lingard, had put new courage into Marise. There had been further meetings since the memorable evening when Goldie had made her exit! Despite her worries over her truant daughter, there seemed to be a second blossoming and a radiance about Marise.

William B. Lingard, too, looked younger. Much of his gruffness was gone. One day—at four o'clock on a Friday—he said to Alveda: "Tonight I go to Chicago on business, and won't be back before the middle of next week. You look pale and tired. Why don't you take a few days in your country home and see your people? It will be all right with me if you're back in the office on Thursday."

She flushed at his kind tone, his thoughtfulness. And yet she hesitated, thinking of the expense. "I want to keep you fit. I'll get your transportation."

That evening, she was packing—assisted by Marise—when a ring came at the door-bell of the house on West Fortieth Street. Alveda went down into the lobby and opened the front door.

A policeman stood on the steps. He came forward and said, gruffly: "I'm here to take Miss de Renze to the district attorney. Are you the woman I want?"

FAILS IN BUSINESS, STARS IN KITCHEN

Husband Is Forced to Work Under Eye of Wife.

Los Angeles.—If a husband is a failure in business life, try him out as the family cook; fire the maid and chauffeur and let him do their work; dispense with the laundry man and, in general, turn the errand spouse loose to make himself useful about the place.

Some such program is doubtless being advocated in many local homes, following the divorce case testimony adduced recently from Kenneth Gulick McClurg, former New Yorker, before Judge Raymond I. Turney.

McClurg's wife, the former Lillian Stanford, is attempting to divorce him on grounds of infidelity and cruelty. McClurg denies everything and is fighting the charges. When he took the stand to testify in his own behalf courtroom spectators were treated to a story as pathetically humorous as anything in divorce court history.

Says Wife Dominates Him.

Originally well to do, McClurg asserts that he was dominated by his wife. They spent almost all his fortune under her direction, he says. Then he set about to look for work. First he started a garage, but it was a failure. Then he looked for work in a department store, but failed to make the proper connections.

"When my wife learned of this failure she was furious," McClurg told Judge Turney. She discharged the servants. Some one had to do the work and she told me that I was to be the one.

"From then on I was a servant to her. I rather liked the work itself, but her attitude was intolerable. For two years, from 1925 to 1927, I submitted to it. At first I didn't resist because I loved her. When I did begin to resist it was too late."

During those two years, the testimony shows, McClurg lived an amazing life. Every meal that was cooked in the household was produced by the docile husband, and he was a good cook, even Mrs. McClurg admitted that. Dainty omelets in the morning, tasty salads for luncheon and juicy steaks cooked to a turn at night.

Between meals McClurg was not idle. When the dishes were washed and put away he straightened the house, then washed and mended his clothes. On the frequent occasions when Mrs. McClurg and her mother wished to go out, he doffed his gingham apron, assumed the role of chauffeur and patiently drove them about, in fact, as one of the neighbors observed, he would have made a model wife for some girl who appreciated his ability.

Shy and Sensitive.

The whole trouble, McClurg confided to the jurist, was his own innate reticence. From childhood, he had been shy and sensitive. The other boys didn't understand him. He hated meeting people. As he grew older he tried to conquer himself.

But whenever he went in business his diffidence was his undoing. He would be unable to meet people and successfully put over business deals, and whatever he tried was a failure.

In rebuttal, Mrs. McClurg charged that this seemingly model husband was unfaithful and cruel. She also asserted that she had furnished $25,000 of her own money for the garage venture and that all but $500 of it was lost.

Such a problem, Judge Turney decided, is not one to be decided lightly. In the manner of the average divorce, so he took the case under advisement and that is where it now stands. Meanwhile Mrs. McClurg has gone back to her home in Santa Monica, and her estranged husband is endeavoring to avoid the threats of other husbands whose wives have pointed him out as an example of what a husband might do around the house.

Odd Welcome for Visitor

Efficiency is the watchword at the hospital for seamen in London. Late yesterday came a strange old man whose speech attendants could not understand. They burned his clothes, shaved him, bathed him and put him to bed with a sleeping draught. Next day it was found he had come to visit a friend.
